TWO HURT WHEN TRUCK STRIKES FARM TRACTOR

Two men were injured and brought to the Warner hospital here late Monday afternoon when a mail truck bound from Harrisburg to Gettysburg struck a farm tractor a quarter of a mile north of Heidelberg on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road at 5:45 p. m.

Edward Asper, 74, of York Springs R. 2, suffered concussion, head bruises, cuts and body bruises when his farm tractor was struck by a truck operated by Lester St. Clair, 26, of New Cumberland, Pa. He was brought to the hospital in the ambulance.

St. Clair was treated at the hospital for brush burns and body bruises and discharged. He was brought to the hospital in another truck which had been sent to the scene of the accident to pick up the mail.

Truck Is Demolished

Both the truck and the tractor were being driven south on the highway. State police of the Gettysburg sub-station, who investigated, said the truck, owned by Melvin C. Herzing, Cashtown, turned out to pass the tractor about 150 feet from a small bridge and that the right rear corner of the truck struck the left rear wheel of the tractor.

The truck went out of control, rolled over once and struck the bridge parapet at the same spot where the Rev. Fr. John H. Weber, pastor of St. Aloysius church, Littlestown, was fatally injured on April 14.

State police said the truck was demolished. They placed the amount of loss at $950. Damage to the tractor was estimated at $50. Police said the tractor was owned by Asper's daughter, Chloe Asper, also York Springs R. 1.

Police said Asper suffered a fractured hip a year ago when he was run over by a farm vehicle.

LIONS' LADIES ARE GUESTS AT DINNER, DANCE

More than 130 Gettysburg Lions and their guests attended a ladies' night dinner and evening of entertainment at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday evening with a spring concert by the 60-voice Gettysburg high school choir highlighting the program.

President M. P. Hartzell, Sr., presided at the dinner session after which the Lions and their ladies went to the hotel auditorium, already decorated with spring flowers for the Gettysburg Times cooking school, for the choir concert under the direction of Richard B. Shade, supervisor of music in the Gettysburg public schools.

The choir opened their program with "Gloria" from the Twelfth Mass by Mozart. James Slaybaugh sang the baritone solo part for the negro spiritual "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen." The old English carol, "Twenty-Eighteen," as arranged by Deems Taylor was sung next with Clara Carroll and Galen Keeney singing the solos.

"Beautiful Savior" by Reginald Dunkinson, Keeney and Slaybaugh was followed by "Listen to the Mocking Bird" by the entire choir. The boys' trio sang "Old Black Joe" and then Slaybaugh served as figure caller while the choir sang "Skip to My Lou." The boys' trio sang "When I Was Single" and as an encore "Let's Build a Bungalow." The concert closed with "Charlotte Town" by Bryan by the entire choir. Miss Alice Plank was the pianist.

During the dinner hour at the hotel, members of the Lions club chorus sang "Aura Lee." After the choir concert the Lions and their guests returned to the hotel dining room for an evening of dancing and cards. Music was by the Spring Garden club trio. Two war bond drawings during the evening were awarded to C. E. Swisher and Mrs. Charles Held. Eight visiting Lions from Baltimore and Hagerstown attended.

Two methods are being considered. One a merger with another township and the other for the township to be divided into two school districts, with one new district entering the East Berlin jointure. The matter will be worked out, it was stated, and brought to a vote of the people of the township in the near future.

Moul was elected chairman of the executive committee; J. E. Gladfelter was elected vice chairman; Richard Hoke, secretary, and the treasurer will be named after the various boards represented in the joint district have selected their treasurers. ADVISORY GROUP ON COUNTY HOME IS BEING URGED

Formation of an advisory committee for the county home somewhat similar to the advisory committee of the Child Welfare services or the auxiliary to the hospital was urged Monday night at a meeting of the County Welfare council held in Christ Lutheran church.

A committee comprising the Rev. Dr. Dwight P. Putman, the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, the Rev. George S. Stoneback and the Rev. Floyd A. Carroll was appointed to see what can be done about effecting such an organization.

The committee is to meet with the county commissioners to seek their support of such a group and with the various ministers of the county to see whether representatives to such a group could be handpicked from their congregations throughout the county.

Plan Many Activities

The advisory committee or auxiliary would have the job of providing continuous interest in the county home, it was pointed out, in providing recreation for the inmates, providing such things as magazines, radios, sewing articles and the like. It would also probably be able to make suggestions as to needed changes that might be made to provide better conditions for the county home.

At present, it was pointed out, there are many who are interested in the county home. Various organizations provide occasional Sunday religious services, various groups give gifts on various occasions such as Christmas, sometimes groups visit to talk with the persons at the home.

"But all of this is a hit or miss effort," Doctor Putman pointed out, "there is no continuing long range program of assistance to the county home."

Such a committee would have to be handpicked at the start, it was pointed out, because it would demand much time and effort on the part of the members of the group.

Given Free Hand

Such an advisory group could also back up the staff at the county home and the commissioners in their efforts.

FACES CODE CHARGE

Mrs. Charles W. Kurie, Chambersburg, was charged today before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder with failing to yield one half of the highway, following an accident early Sunday morning on the Lincoln highway a mile west of Gettysburg. A 10-day notice will be sent. State police, who filed the charge, said Mrs. Kurie's car sideswiped one owned by the Nash Service Center, and driven by Harold E. Beam, both of Chambersburg.

COLLEGE HEAD SAYS OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR SUCCESS OF U.N.

"The amazing thing is not what the United Nations cannot do, but all the things that it has done. We have been made aware of its relatively few failures, but we do not realize the hundreds of problems it has solved."

That was the keynote of a report on the United Nations made by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, to the Gettysburg Rotary club at its regular meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

A three day visit to Lake Success during which he attended meetings of the Security Council has made him optimistic about the success of the United Nations, the local educator said.

"The tremendous success was summed up by the member from Pakistan who said 'The United Nations has already saved the lives of millions of Indians because through it full civil war in India has been averted. We forget that the United Nations is only three years old while the problems it faces are hundreds of years old.'"

Predicts Harmony

"The United Nations has a basic split, Russia and its satellites against the rest of the world. But I am not too worried. There will be storms but more and more the Security Council will be able to work harmoniously."

Doctor Hanson was one of ten college presidents recently asked to sit with the United Nations. During the three days he sat with the Security Council, Doctor Hanson said, he was 15 feet from Soviet representatives.

Plan $9,000,000 Cyclotron To Help Solve Mysteries Of Atomic Energy For Yankees

Berkeley, Calif., April 27 (AP)—A $9,000,000 cyclotron which may be the ultimate tool for solving the mysteries of atomic energy will be built at the University of California with government money.

It will be a racetrack-shaped magnet 110 feet in diameter which will whip atomic bullets around its course until they reach speeds exceeding 60,000 miles an hour. These speeds will give them striking power ranging from 6 billion to 10 billion volts.

With these bullets scientists will bombard atoms to produce mesons, which are mighty little packets of energy and matter which apparently are the key to the deepest secrets of nuclear energy.

The project was announced last night jointly by Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, cyclotron inventor, and David E. Lillenthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The main part of the big machine will be a magnet weighing 13,000 tons.

Construction probably will require about five years. The cyclotron will remain the property of the government but the university will have the greatest possible degree of autonomy in operating it, Lillenthal said.

The AEC chairman added that the plans reflect the determination of the United States to remain "pre-eminent" in the development of atomic research as long as the prospects for international agreement on atomic energy control remain poor. He described the present prospects as "remote."

The new research colossus will be about 20 times as powerful as the university's 4,900-ton cyclotron, Dr. Lawrence said.

Three More Cases Of Fever Tagged

William I. Shields, state sanitarian for Adams county, quarantined three more cases of scarlet fever in Adams county Monday afternoon, two of them in one home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Treiber, Reading township, was placarded because of the illness of Whitley F. Norris, aged 20, a member of the household.

ANNEX BEING DECORATED FOR COOKING CLASS

Final touches were being given to the Hotel Gettysburg annex today in preparation for the opening Wednesday night of the Gettysburg Times cooking school.

A force of interior decorators from Harrisburg has decorated the auditorium for the three sessions, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The stage was erected by the Wolf Supply company, 47 North Stratton street.

The food baskets, ten of which will be given away on Wednesday night, ten on Thursday night and 20 on Friday night, have been filled and are ready for distribution. The special gifts for Friday night are also ready. Sixteen merchants and manufacturers have cooperated with The Gettysburg Times in providing these awards.

22 Merchants Cooperate

Tickets for these special gifts will be given to every person attending the cooking school sessions on each of the three nights, and all tickets will participate in the drawing Friday night.

Twenty-two merchants in all are cooperating in making possible this cooking school. They will have displays at the hotel annex and are furnishing gifts for either the baskets or the special awards, or both.

Doors of the annex will open each

Here And There News Collected At Random

It will soon be "clean-up and paint-up" time in Gettysburg and every householder should cooperate to the fullest with town officials in giving the town a thorough housecleaning.

If each family will clean its yard and alleyway, remove all rubbish and trash and stack this dirt in one pile at the rear of its premises the borough will haul it away. This should be done when the borough makes its official announcement of clean-up time.

This is the initial step in the campaign to eliminate all flies, mosquitoes and other pests. It is very likely that the town will be given several sprayings with DDT, but if your yard is not cleaned of all breeding places for pests the spraying will be of little avail.

In the university town of Moscow, Idaho, there's no market for fly swatters any more. Last year many residents left their windows unscreened all summer long; restaurants did away with flytraps and sticky paper and propped open their screen doors. Indeed, flies were so scarce that for two weeks in September entomologists at the University of Idaho were unable to trap a single fly for their research experiments.

Sheriff B. W. Spence, 57, Is Fatally Stricken On Special Election Mission

B. W. SPENCE

Bernard W. Spence, 57, Adams county sheriff, died at the Warner hospital at 9:40 p. m. Monday night of coronary occlusion after being taken ill in the afternoon while delivering special primary election stickers to various polling places in the county.

Sheriff Spence had taken a supply of the stickers, and after delivering some of them to election board officials in Hamilton township, had started for Arendtsville and Biglerville, intending to make further deliveries in the north part of the county. He was accompanied by George (Tessie) Slonaker, a court officer.

He was taken ill near Mt. Newman, complaining of indigestion from food eaten at luncheon before leaving by automobile to deliver the stickers.

Drove To Biglerville

In spite of this indisposition, he continued to Biglerville, stopping at the Sillick service station shortly before 5 o'clock. He then went to the home of James Sillick nearby, where he asked for some soda to relieve what he believed was indigestion.

Dr. P. J. McGlynn, Biglerville was called. He treated Sheriff Spence and brought him to his home at the jail on East High street here. The ambulance was then called and he was removed to the hospital at 6:45 p. m.

Adams county election officials in making up the Democratic ballots for today's primary election, had failed to leave a space on the ballot under state senator for the writing in of candidates' names. There were no regular nominees to be printed on the ballot. When the mistake was discovered, after the ballots had been printed, special stickers were ordered to be pasted on the ballots. It was these that the sheriff was delivering when stricken.

Served First 1936-1940

Mrs. Spence was notified of her husband's illness from Biglerville. She called Republican County Chairman John H. Basehore, who, with Joseph Cooley, turnkey at the jail, went to Biglerville and brought the sheriff's car back to Gettysburg.

Sheriff Spence was born in Adams county, the son of Hanson L. and Lucy Spence. He was a farmer for 16 years, and was elected sheriff the first time in 1935, serving in this capacity from 1936 to 1940.

During World War II, Mr. Spence was employed on the guard force at the York Safe and Lock company, York, Pa., and then worked as a carpenter in the general supply division at the Letterkenny Ordnance depot from May 14, 1943 to November 25, 1945.

Wed 39 Years

He was elected sheriff again at the general election last fall, and assumed his duties in January of this year.

He was a member of St. James Lutheran church, Gettysburg Aerie No. 1562, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Gettysburg Lodge of Elks No. 1945 and the Independent Order of Americans.

He leaves his wife, Blanche M. (Lochbaum) Spence, to whom he was married 39 years; three children.

Kennan Home Is Hit By Lightning

George F. Kennan, East Berlin R. 2, top man on the policy committee of the state department, narrowly escaped possible injury Saturday morning when lightning struck his home near East Berlin.

Kennan was called from a room in his house by Merle Anthony, who operates Kennan's farm, to see a new calf. A few seconds after Kennan left the room lightning struck the house, breaking a small hole in one window and smashing out a window on the opposite side of the room. Electric connections were damaged and some woodwork se

MAN MISSING 58 YEARS FOUND

Lancaster, Pa., April 27 (AP)—A 76-year-old man who ran away from his Newark, N. J., home 58 years ago and was given up for dead has been found in the Lancaster county home for aged.

A volunteer worker in the home was given credit today for solving the disappearance of Samuel Gleitzman.

Five years ago a man who gave his name as Samuel Gleitz came to the home with a broken leg. He said he had no home and no relatives. He has lived here since then.

Mrs. Abe Levitt became interested in Gleitz. After hours of conversation she learned he ran away from home because he was tired of his father's strict discipline.

Last Friday Mrs. Levitt's friend, Mrs. J. M. Booth, was going to Newark and offered to search for Gleitz's relatives. There were no listings under the name in the Newark phone book.

On a hunch, Mrs. Booth looked at the Gleitzman listings, selected at random the number of Harold A. Gleitzman of 128 Goodwin avenue. Gleitzman remembered his long-lost uncle.

Back in Lancaster, Gleitz was reluctant to talk about himself but admitted to Mrs. Levitt that he had changed his name and that Harold Gleitzman is his nephew.

The aged man chuckled when he recalled that for more than two years after leaving home he worked in a small hat shop "only a few blocks from my home."

"The police were looking for me, but they didn't find me," he told Mrs. Levitt.

LOGAN IS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Grant F. Logan, Glen Rock garage mechanic, formerly of East Berlin, who was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the York county court last August, was sentenced Monday afternoon to imprisonment for life in the Eastern penitentiary.

On February 16, 1947, Logan, a World War II veteran, went to the home of Mrs. Hazel Hamberger Wagner, York, in search of his estranged wife. While there he shot Mrs. Wagner, who died about two hours later.

After his conviction, August 28, 1947, there was a motion for a new trial which was denied by Judge Anderson in an opinion handed down on April 14.

After the shooting of Mrs. Wagner, Logan fired three shots into his body in a suicide attempt and then appeared at the West Side Osteopathic hospital early the next morning, when his wounds were treated.

Logan was calm as he heard the sentence pronounced. Immediately his attorney, Palmer C. Bortner, informed the court of his intention to make an appeal to the state supreme court and asked the court to delay the transfer of the defendant to the state penitentiary pending the outcome of that appeal. The request was granted and for the time being Logan will remain in the York county jail.

Seek New Suspect In Reuther Case

Detroit, April 27 (AP)—Police were hunting today for a man reported to have said he wanted to "take a shot" at CIO United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther.

The man was carrying a .38 caliber revolver, Commissioner Harry S. Toy said, when he told an unidentified informant: "Somebody ought to shoot Reuther. I'd like to take a shot at him myself."

The tip—received yesterday from a man brought here from Toledo, Ohio, was the latest and most "startling" in the police manhunt for Reuther's April 20 assailant, Toy said.

Reuther's arm was nearly torn off just a week ago by a shotgun blast fired through the kitchen window of his home. He is reported to be making good progress toward recovery, and physicians believe the arm may be repaired.

Toy identified the police informant only as a minor UAW official.

GIANTS' MOUND STAFF CLICKS; SOX TRIP NATS

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer—It may be only a flash in the pan, but the New York Giants appear to have finally found that missing link—strong pitching—which added to their terrific batting power can make them the most feared outfit in baseball.

Combining the two yesterday, the Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phils, 5-1, for their fifth straight. They now enjoy a game and a half-place lead in the National league pennant race.

The surprising part of the Giant's surge, naturally, has been their air-tight pitching. And to make it all the more confusing, it has come from the most unexpected sources.

Take yesterday's masterful hurling by Southpaw Dave Koslo. Manager Mel Ott had no assurance that Koslo would go the route, let alone pitch a seven-hitter and a near-shut-out.

Club Hits Hard

Sunday the Giants got two splendidly pitched games out of old Bobo Newsom and Rookie Sheldon Jones. Ace Larry Jansen showed well in his first outing and Ray Poat has a five-hitter to his credit. All of which has combined to put the Giants into the lead.

Not to be outdone by Koslo yesterday, the Giant's power hitters slammed starter schoolboy Rowe and his two successors for eight hits, five of which went for extra bases. Sid Gordon cracked a home run, the club's 10th in eight games.

Eddie Stanky, in his first crack against his former Dodger teammates, slammed a triple and single and drew a walk in four times at bat to lead the Braves to a 5-0 victory over the Dodgers in Boston. He also handled eight chances in the field in flawless fashion.

The Cleveland Indians outlasted the Chicago White Sox, 12-11 in a 14-inning affair lasting four hours and 20 minutes. A home run by Eddie Robinson, his second of the game and third of the year, decided the contest. Manager Lou Boudreau chipped in with five hits, including two doubles and two triples, and drove in four runs.

Fred Sanford outpitched Dizzy Trout to give the Browns a 2-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers in St. Louis.

In the only other scheduled contest, the Boston Red Sox won the first night game of the season, defeating the Senators, 6-0 in Washington.

Lefty Mel Parnell limited the Senators to five hits while Boston collected 10, including three singles and a double by Ted Williams, defending batting champion who had a perfect night.

INTERSTATE BEGINS TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

There will be many new faces on all eight clubs when the Class B Interstate league opens its ninth campaign tonight but six of the teams will call on veteran hurlers in an effort to get off to a winning start.

Only Wilmington, winner of the playoffs last season, and Sunbury, will send newcomers to the mound. The Blue Rocks have nominated Robin Roberts, a Michigan State graduate sent down by the Philadelphia Philles, to open the season against Harrisburg.

Sunbury's opening pitching chores will be handled by Dick Libby, a promising southpaw. Harrisburg's pitcher, Kent Yount, played only part of last season, joining the Senators after graduating from Penn State.

The league also will have six new managers. The only holdovers are Tommy Heath at Trenton and Les Bell, starting his fifth season at Harrisburg. New pilots are Al Hollingsworth at Allentown, Elmer Rambert at Hagerstown, Dib Williams at Lancaster, Joe Buzas at Sunbury, Jack Sanford at Wilmington and Frank Ocek at York.

Opening day schedule with probable pitchers and their last year's records: Harrisburg (Kent Yount 1-4) at Wilmington (Robin Roberts); Lancaster (Les McCrabb 10-11) at Hagerstown (Mike Koons 13-13); Allentown (Johnny Gibson) at York (Joe Muir 3-0 or Bob Kroner 4-4); Sunbury (Dick Libby) at Trenton (Paul Almonte 8-4).

Eddie Robinson, Indians, hit two home runs, the second coming in the 14th inning to give the Indians a 12-11 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Pitching—Bill Voiselle, Braves—allowed only three singles in pitching the Boston Braves to a 5-0 victory over Brooklyn.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, April 27 (AP)—In spite of those huge "assembly line" training camps that some major league baseball clubs put on for their minor affiliates, some smart baseball men deep in the bushes aren't too happy about 1948 prospects.

Listen . . . from one anonymous gent who knows his way around the minors: "I'm afraid most of us overestimated the players who would be developed in the armed forces. With so many leagues going, some of the class D's will have to employ pretty raw talent. If the situation prevails throughout the league and keeps it in balance, it will not be so bad. The danger is when one club manages to snag a few experienced performers, who will put that club far ahead in a runaway race."

A league president: "I feel that in a way we will eventually destroy hometown enthusiasm and support if local ownership and management is taken away."

Another president (after quoting figures to show that only a winning class "D" club can hope to break even): "Training is an expensive proposition and most class D clubs are pleased to have the parent club train the ball players and ship them in ten days before the opening. . . . Keeping them ten days is no small item."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Ben Hogan declares that the toughest part of the winter golf tour is adjusting your game to the various different types of grasses on the putting greens. . . . "You wind up so jittery you lose touch, confidence and ambition," says Ben. . . . Arnold Brown, No. 1 tennis player at Western Michigan college, recently won the Michigan singles and doubles titles in table tennis. . . . Andy Gustafson enlisted his former Army pupil, Hank Goldberg, to help teach the U. of Miami squad an Army "T" formation. Arnold Tucker also gave a helping hand for a short time. . . . From this distance, we'd say Hank Sauer is looking very sweet at the plate for the Cincinnati Reds.

CLOTHES CALL

The Chicago Coleens, a new club in the All-American Girls Baseball league, looked so nifty in their all-white uniforms at spring training camp in Opa Locka, Fla., that managers of the other nine teams demanded that similar white costumes be bought as "home" uniforms for their clubs. . . . Seems that girls will be girls where clothes are concerned.

Bullet Tennis Team Loses First Match

The Gettysburg college tennis team opened its oft delayed season Monday afternoon by bowing to the Franklin and Marshall college racket wielders here 5-4.

EAGLES' STAR AIDS BULLETS WITH "T" PLAY

Al Sherman, stellar quarterback of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Professional football league, arrived in Gettysburg Monday to assist in installing the T-formation system the Gettysburg college grid-ers will use next season.

Sherman is a strong advocate of the T-style of play and told a Times reporter that he has always played under that formation.

Although but 25 years of age, Sherman has been playing quarterback for the Eagles for five seasons. Alternating with Thompson at quarterback for the pros, the duo is considered one of the finest combinations in the league.

The curly headed youth weighs only 175 pounds but is ruggedly built. He stands five feet 10½ inches.

Classed "Too Small"

Sherman is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., and graduated from the Brooklyn Boys' high school. When he sought a position on the high school eleven his coach turned him down saying he was "too small."

The year following his graduation from college Sherman entered Brooklyn college and proceeded to make a name for himself. He played varsity quarterback for four seasons and captained his team in his junior and senior years. His fine generalship brought him a trial with the Eagles where he has remained ever since. Sherman also played varsity basketball for two years at Brooklyn.

Successful Coach

For the last two years Sherman has coached the St. Joseph's Prep school eleven of the Philadelphia Catholic league. In 1946 he raised his team from the cellar position of the previous year to third place and last season his team was a contender for the title until the final two games. The fullback, quarterback and an end of the St. Joseph's team were put on the first team of the all-league eleven last season.

Sherman will confine most of his duties this week to the quarterbacks on the Bullet squad, teaching them the intricacies of handling the ball as demanded by the T-style of play.

This week is the fourth and final for the Bullets in their spring practice program. There are approximately 60 men on the squad, a number being missing due to their interests in other spring sports.

EASTERN LOOP SHOWS TALENT

Williamsport, Pa., April 27 (AP) — The Eastern Baseball league opens its turnstiles for the 1948 season tomorrow with individual talent rated the best since pre-war years.

League President Thomas H. Richardson says the league is stocked with new faces, and predicts a close pennant race among nearly all the clubs.

"Now that the post-war 'growing pains' are over and baseball has settled down," Richardson said, "the eastern league expects to present Class A baseball at its best."

Six of the eight managers who will direct league teams during the year are new to the eastern circuit. The only two holdovers are Merrill May at Albany, and Bill Norman at Wilkes-Barre.

Fifty million people a year visit United States museums.

Today's Talk

ADD SOMETHING TO IT

Each of us is an inheritor of all that has happened since this earth was created—millions, perhaps billions of years ago. And it is a rich inheritance indeed. Each new period of human history reveals new discoveries and new wonders—and they all belong to each one of us.

It devolves upon each one of us, therefore, to add something to this rich inheritance, no matter how small the contribution. We are inspired by the contributions of Galileo, Socrates, Pasteur, Harvey, Lister, Edison, and a host of scientific and literary lights, whose minds have enriched the thought of all time. It is the privilege of the humblest to add something to it.

Someone is always adding something to our enjoyment and comfort. Many are those who have given to me encouragement and inspiration, without ever having met them personally. A friend sends me a book, which I read with interest, and it becomes a link between us. Then I tell you, who may read this Talk—and another link is forged for the increasing chain of knowledge. You add to the sum total of happiness in this world merely by your appreciation.

No matter what our station in life, where we work, or move about, we are privileged to add something that may travel afar! Certainly we should not hoard our benefits and blessings. The winged songster does not. The very air vibrates with its gift of melody.

The final story of a great man, or woman, is never completed. Someone is always adding something to it. Thousands of books have been written upon Napoleon. Hardly a year without one or more books about Lincoln. Discoveries are forever being revealed—in science, and every phase of the arts. Something is being added to knowledge, from every quarter, every day of our lives.

Compare the famous Dr. Johnson dictionary to the latest of today, and what an improvement! The dictionary of tomorrow, however, will be a better one. Something of interest will be added. It is tragic for any of us to allow a single day to pass without adding something to it that will increase the happiness of some one else. Of unknown origin are these lines:

"Count that day lost whose low descending sun Views from thy hand no worthy action done."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Magic Door."

Just Folks

LETTER NO. XVIII

Beloved, I have wondrous news, although I'm sure you know.

Today the little baby came we talked of long ago.

I've just come from the hospital, but first I want to tell

The little fellow's perfect and our Jannie's doing well.

Those hours and hours of worry were translated into joy

The instant when the doctor came and told us: "It's a boy!"

Beloved, you remember when came Bud and Betty's three,

The nurses, as I walked the hall, were making fun of me.

They told you: "Don't be bothered by his pacing to and fro.

When they know a baby's coming, grandpas always worry so.

But they instantly recover, and we've found it true of most,

When they know they have a grandchild they go striding off to boast."

Beloved, I have seen him, and I think beyond a doubt

The babies' guardian angels called you in to pick him out.

I was sure the while you saw me in the deepest depths of woe.

You whispered to the nurses: "He has always fretted so.

When it's over, glad and grateful, with a prayer the Lord he'll thank."

They are going to name him Henry, but I'm going to call him Hank.

STASSEN AND DEWEY BATTLE IN WASHINGTON

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Growing signs of a stop-Stassen movement were countered today by claims that Harold E. Stassen may grab a share of Washington state's 19 GOP Presidential votes.

Stassen spokesmen here said supporters of the former Minnesota governor, by working down into the precincts, have put themselves in position to challenge Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's men for control of the state's May 15 GOP party meeting.

That gathering will name the 19 Washington delegates to the Republican national convention at Philadelphia this summer.

The story told by Stassen's backers is that his workers showed up in force at precinct meetings and succeeded in naming many delegates of their choosing to several county conventions, including the one in Spokane.

May Snare Delegates

With this as a starter, the Stassen supporters contend they are certain to break into the national convention delegate lineup. That group had been generally regarded as likely to shift largely to Dewey after possible early ballots for Senator Harry Cain (Wash.) and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Dewey backers retorted, however, that Stassen is only whistling to keep up his courage in Washington. They said control of Seattle and Tacoma delegations will freeze the Minnesota out at the state convention.

Pennsylvania and Massachusetts swell the delegate list today, with Delaware, New Mexico and Tennessee adding their quotas tomorrow.

Pennsylvania picks 73 delegates expected to vote on the first ballot for Senator Edward Martin (R-Pa.) Massachusetts' 35 delegates are expected to support Senator Leverett Saltonstall in the early balloting. They may go to Speaker Martin (Mass.) later.

Senator Williams (R-Del.) predicted that Delaware's eight delegates will have an entirely free hand to pick a candidate when they get to the convention.

Nazi-banned Work Being Reprinted

Berlin, April 27 (AP)—Writings by German-speaking authors which the Nazis banned and burned for 12 years are now presented to German readers in a best-seller anthology published under the auspices of the American Military Government.

The 215-page book, given a first printing of 60,000 copies here, is titled "Verboten und Verbrannt" (Forbidden and Burned). It contains excerpts from the writings of some 200 authors.

They come back into print now as the four occupying powers are still working on a big book purge of their own, involving the destruction of millions of volumes of Nazi and militarist literature. This purge is being conducted under an Allied Control Authority order providing for the cleansing of libraries of public and commercial institutions of literature preaching racism and militarism. The banned Nazi books are not buried but pulped to produce new paper for school textbooks and newspapers.

POLISH EXILES RETURN

Warsaw, Poland, April 27 (AP)—Some Poles who long ago emigrated to Africa are returning to their homeland. A recent transport brought 566 persons from Africa, Palestine and Italy. Eighty per cent came from Africa.

Electricity Used To Remove Trout

Boise, Ida., April 27 (AP)—Several scores of trout were knocked out with electricity in Richmond Canal recently but it was all for their own good.

James C. Simpson, state fish culturist, said that many trout had wandered into the canal from Wood River and were in danger of being stranded there when it became necessary to lower water levels.

So crews using electrical shocking machines, powered by portable generators, worked in the potholes where rocks and snags made seining impossible. The current stunned the fish so they floated to the top, but most of them were reported to have come to with no apparent ill effects when placed in other water.

Some 300 fish ranging from one to eight pounds were captured.

DERBY FEVER UP AT LOUISVILLE

Louisville, April 27 (AP)—Preliminary symptoms of the annual "Kentucky Derby Fever" broke out today as Calumet farm prepared to parade Citation before the home folks for the first time in his young turf career.

The winter book favorite for Saturday's $100,000 mile and a quarter classic and his sensational stablemate, Coaltown, were cautiously entered with three other colts for this afternoon's derby trial at Churchill Downs. Post time for the one mile affair from the chute is 5:20 (EST).

However, it was generally considered that Coaltown, in razor sharp trim, would be scratched. Coaltown captured the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, Ky., only last Thursday, and is all set for Saturday.

This would leave it up to William L. Brann's Escadur, Howard Wells' Eagle Look, C. A. O'Neil, Jr.'s Galedo and Citation.

The trial will give the Maryland-bred Escadur opportunity to show what he might do when he answers the bugle on derby day. Galedo stretched his legs in a spring here Saturday, and his owner decided to send him out again for the trial.

College Linksmen Defeat Dickinson

The Gettysburg college golfers recorded their second win against as many defeats Monday afternoon by defeating Dickinson college on the Caledonia course 8-1.

The summaries: Dick Dodds, 66, Gettysburg, defeated Johnny Hopper, 71, 4-3. Walt Plantz, 71, Gettysburg, defeated Earl Helland, 74, 3-2. Best ball won by Gettysburg, 4-3.

Larry Feldman, 78, Dickinson, defeated Don Carrington, 82, 3-2. George Yocum, 74, Gettysburg, defeated James Kerr, 86, 6-4. Best ball won by Gettysburg, 4-3.

Newark, Del., April 27 (AP)—He may not be a chip off the old block yet but Joe Pennock showed signs of it yesterday in pitching the University of Delaware to a 6-0 victory over LaSalle of Philadelphia. The son of the late Herb Pennock—general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies—gave up only two hits, struck out ten and walked three in chalking up his first intercollegiate baseball victory. He was a first baseman last year.

FOLDING MOTORCYCLE

London, April 27 (AP)—A collapsible motorcycle that does 130 miles to the gallon has appeared in England. It is a peacetime version of the paratroopers' collapsible motorcycle. With its handlebars folded, it stands 19 inches high and measures 53 inches long and 13 inches wide. It opens to 37 inches high, two feet two inches wide. It runs 30 m.p.h. and weighs 95 pounds.

DESERT BASE FOR BRITISH

Cairo, April 27 (AP)—Water has been piped 73 miles from the mountains to the Taru desert in Kenya for a new defense base. The pipeline was slashed through mountain jungles. And the pipe had to be buried to foil elephant herds. When the base is ready, work and goods will be transferred from the Suez area.

AAA Asks Congress To Probe Tourist Facilities In Parks

Washington, D. C., April 27—Congress has been asked by the American Automobile Association to conduct a comprehensive investigation into tourist facilities in national parks, for the purpose of formulating a progressive and realistic national park policy.

Formal requests for action on the subject have been placed before the Public Lands Committees of both houses of Congress by R. J. Schunk, Cleveland, Ohio, A.A.A. president, who points out that the question of facilities for visitors to the national parks "is becoming a matter of increasing concern to the traveling public."

25 Million Visitors
During the 1947 travel season, some twenty-five million persons visited these American playgrounds, according to the AAA. With current travel volumes to these areas running approximately 16 per cent above a year ago, an even greater influx is expected this year. On-the-spot surveys and comments received from AAA members have indicated for some time a great need for improvement and expansion of park facilities of all types.

"Neglect in providing adequate funds for national park services has resulted in a steady deterioration of traveling facilities available to the traveling public," Mr. Schunk pointed out. "Accommodations are wholly inadequate to meet the demands of the ever increasing numbers of visitors. In many cases they are in such a bad state of disrepair that replacement and modernization are urgently needed."

"National park roads have seriously deteriorated to the point where immediate and extensive repair work becomes mandatory. New construction, vitally needed to keep pace with the needs of the motoring public, is conspicuous by its absence."

Attack Entrance Fees

The present system of singling out motorists for paying entrance fees was severely scored by the national motoring body, as "discriminatory and unjustifiable and never specifically authorized by Congress."

"It is the duty of Congress," Mr. Schunk continued, "to establish major entrance fee policies, including limitations of amounts to be charged. Entrance fees should apply to individuals rather than to vehicles, so all users of the parks would contribute a fair share regardless of the method of transportation used in entering the park areas."

No Ceilings On Delegates' Rooms

Philadelphia, April 27 (AP)—Ceilings on rooms for delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions will be lifted during the national parleys, Joseph T. Turchi, federal area rent director, disclosed.

Speaking at a meeting of the apartment owners and managers association last night, Turchi explained the new rent law, which became effective April 1, differed from the 1947 act in that a clause permits the raising of rent ceilings in some cases to the average rate charged for similar accommodations in the same neighborhood.

The law also authorizes state governors to appoint five-member boards empowered to increase rents generally, decontrol the area or recommend specific changes in the ceilings on separate properties, Turchi said.

MINER PENSION PLAN MUDDLED

Washington, April 27 (AP)—The $100-a-month pensions John L. Lewis wants for retired coal miners still are out of reach today.

Lewis thus is in about the same fix he was in before the now-ended pension strike started six weeks ago.

He can't get an agreement for paying pensions out of the $33,000,000 miners welfare fund.

Lewis and his two fellow fund trustees held a two-hour meeting late yesterday. Apparently they couldn't agree, because each had only "no comment" for reporters afterward.

Senator Styles Bridges (R-NH), the neutral trustee, conceded that no date had been set for starting the $100 monthly pensions to miners 62 years or older with 20 years' service he and Lewis had agreed upon on April 12.

The trustee representing the mine owners, Ezra Van Horn of Cleveland, has asked the Federal court here to tag the Lewis-Bridges plan as illegal—and require the Senator and union boss to make good any improper payments out of the fund.

Whether Van Horn's suit stopped Lewis and Bridges from going ahead with their plan; or whether Lewis, or Bridges, or Van Horn broached some new plan, was anybody's guess.

At any rate the three called another meeting for Wednesday afternoon.

LANA NERVOUS FOR WEDDING

By GENE HANDSAKER

Hollywood, April 27 (AP)—Well, was quite a production. Lana Turner, the bride, was radiant, and nervous. Her white-orchid corsage trembled. She went upstairs and down to rest for a half hour at the ceremony.

She spoke her "I wills" at just above a whisper. The movie blond sweater girl, 27, was far less poised than in the 11 times she has been married in well-rehearsed movie scenes.

Her dark-haired, millionaire bridegroom, Henry J. (Bob) Topping, 34, heir to a tinplate fortune, said his vows with calm assurance.

Well Prepared Script

The black-robed clergyman to them solemnly in the ceremony, "Henry and Lana, let us believe that in the province of God you have at last found each other."

He adjured them to "plan together, pray together, and—most important of all—prayer together."

Like a well-prepared movie script, the marriage of the movie diva and the millionaire had everything.

Glamour: Lana wore a sheer champagne lace gown over a champagne satin slip that did full justice to her celebrated figure. Her blue eyes sparkled, her cheeks were a tannish pink. The ceremonial room was fragrant and aglow with green ferns and white blossoms—arranged by studio prop men in cooperation with florists.

Drama: Lana was married in the white, plaster-walled living room of William R. (Billy) Wilkerson, movie trade-paper publisher, who discovered her for movies 11 years ago when she was sipping a milk shake. He served as best man.

Excitement: 25 reporters, 16 photographers and a newsreel man jamming the entryway to Wilkerson's two-story Bel-Air home as the ceremony started at 2:12 p. m.

The human touch: The matron of honor confessed gaily, after the ceremony was over, "my feet hurt. And the cute flower girl—five-year-old Cheryl Christine, Lana's daughter by a previous marriage to Stephen Crane—said, 'I'm tired.'"

COURT ORDERS NEW SEARCH FOR MISSING WOMAN

Pittsburgh, April 27 (P)—President Judge Thomas P. Trimble has ordered a zealous search be made for Evelyn Hartstein, an heiress who vanished from her Pittsburgh home a few days after Christmas, 1940.

Postponing action on a petition to have her declared dead, Judge Trimble declared yesterday:

"We will make any court order necessary to the purpose of finding this woman if she is living."

Miss Hartstein left Pittsburgh about two months after her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Hartstein, were shot to death at their Beechwood boulevard home. She was 32 at the time.

Suitor Convicted

Louis Kleinberg, whom the parents had rejected as Miss Hartstein's suitor, was convicted of the double murder and is now serving a life term. He pleaded self defense, saying he fired during a struggle for possession of a gun.

At the time of her disappearance, it was believed Miss Hartstein left the city to avoid testifying against Kleinberg. Although women answering her description have since been reported in several places, she has not been found.

The petition to have Miss Hartstein declared legally dead was brought by a half-brother, Leonard Hartstein, East Pittsburgh hardware dealer, and a half-sister, Mrs. Florence Gluck of Miami Beach, Fla.

$80,000 Involved

Judge Trimble continued the hearing until June 8 and named R. A. Hitchens, Jr., as a special master to investigate the case. The court directed Hitchens to get in touch with Attorney Thomas J. McBridge of Philadelphia, Kleinberg's counsel, and Sheriff Walter C. Monahan for any possible further information on the case. At the time of the shootings, Monahan was city detective inspector.

Meanwhile, Orphan's court will hold up distribution of Miss Hartstein's share of the estate—about $80,000—until Judge Trimble said.

BUTTERING SANDWICHES

Butter or fortified margarine used for making sandwiches should be taken out of the refrigerator ahead of time and allowed to soften. In this way it will spread more easily and less will have to be used. The butter or margarine should not be melted, however, or else it will soak into the bread.

HAUNTED HOLIDAY

Chapter 23

Open on two sides the game room was the most cheerful room in Kalanil's somewhat gloomy interior. Under the filtering rays of morning sun the wall mural of Waikiki beach seemed to come alive, beckoning the onlooker to a land of eternally balmy breezes where life was forever unconfined. Vince stared at it with longing as Johanson talked.

"Too bad Donovan snapped that bow string," the investigator commented. "Now we won't be able to test the servants."

"They were all accounted for at the time of Sophie's death anyway," Vince said. "As a matter of fact I don't see what your little trial proved."

"Well, for one thing it proved that Julia wasn't trying to hide anything, which should be a load off your mind, and it proved that Bissett was."

"He did seem to hold back," Vince mused. "What about Donovan?"

"I'm going to quiz them as soon as I get Palmer off for town."

"You're sending him in?"

"Yes—he's got the jimjams badly. I don't want him going berserk."

"Is he under arrest?"

"Naturally. Illegal possession of narcotics."

He turned as Bates appeared in the doorway. The deputy's face was florid from irritation. "We've got Palmer out in the station wagon, boss."

Johanson frowned and knocked out his pipe. "Okay. Take the game warden with you to keep an eye on the Doc—we don't want him trying to wrestle you for the steering wheel. Be back in a minute Bonny; wait, will you?"

Vince nodded and Johanson returned in a minute followed by the Donovans. They looked frightened and defiant as the investigator carefully placed them in chairs apart from each other yet facing him. With that separation their mutual strength and defiance seemed to dissolve.

"I'd like to know why you two came to Kalanil?" Johanson said bluntly.

"We'd known Mr. Mannley in Honolulu," Bud Donovan explained haltingly. "When we heard he was here we thought we'd come over for a visit."

Johanson's light brows tangled themselves. "You came for a visit without an invitation? Without knowing if you'd be welcome?"

Donovan gulped and his wife paused in the knitting she had taken up.

"Let me explain it, Bud." Her eyes glittered as she faced Johanson. "We read about Mannley's being here in a San Francisco paper in August but it didn't mean much to us at the time. Bud was sick and I was working in a department store. It was after we saw the specialist that we remembered."

"The specialist?"

"Yes, Bud needs an operation bad. There's only two doctors in the country can do it and it will cost plenty. Her voice trembled then picked up."

"We did Mannley a favor once; we thought he might lend us the dough. Johanson looked skeptical. "Why didn't you write to him about it?"

"Because Mannley was hard," Iris said bitterly. "He'd ignore a letter."

"And what did he say to your proposition?"

"He said if he lent us the money he'd charge six percent interest."

Vince stifled the oath that rose to his lips. The sweet molasses aroma of tobacco filled the room as Johanson began packing his pipe. "What were you and Palmer discussing in your room at two o'clock in the morning?"

Iris' eyes went to her husband; they held a question, pleading with him, and he gave a barely perceptible nod. "We were talking blackmail," she said.

Vince was startled but Johanson nodded as though he had been expecting it.

"The three of us knew something about Mannley," Iris went on. "Palmer was planning to use it and he accused Bud and me of coming here to chisel in."

Iris' knitting bag fell to the floor and lay on its side strewn with contents. "Mannley had a half-caste child," she said slowly.

Vince felt as though he had been slapped in the face with a wet rag. He thought of Mannley's elaborate coat-of-arms over the fireplace, his pride in family name that amounted to almost a fixation. And now this disclosure!

"Interesting," Johanson commented. "Tell us about it Mrs. Donovan."

"There isn't much to tell," Iris said. "Bud and I were in the islands with a traveling vaudeville troupe sixteen years ago. Mannley was playing stage-door Johnny to the sourette and he asked the three of us over to his beach place at Anahola on Kauai for a weekend."

She paused to pick up a stitch in her knitting then continued. "The second night a native busted in on us asking for Palmer. He said a native woman was having a baby and needed help. The Doc and I brought the baby into the world. It was a cute little light-skinned girl."

"How did you know it was Mannley's child?" Johanson said.

"He admitted it," Iris said disgustedly. "He was drinking heavily and when we told him about the baby's birth he just laughed and said he didn't have to worry because the Hawaiian girl had an unsuspecting husband that Mannley had sent off to the States and he'd never learn the truth."

Johanson stared fixedly at the floor as though he could see the bulky outline of Simeon Mannley's body on the bear rug and didn't like what he saw. Smoke drifted lazily from a corner of his long thin mouth.

"And you say you had no intention of blackmailing Mannley?"

Bud moistened his lips. "No, we didn't. We hoped he'd remember Iris' kindness in helping with the baby's birth but we didn't plan to remind him."

"Then how do you explain that?" Johanson's long finger shot out. It pointed at Iris' fallen knitting bag and a neatly tied package of hundred dollar bills half hidden by a jumble of yarn.

"Iris' eyes bulged with horror. "Where did that come from?"

"It's your bag," Johanson observed dryly. "Suppose you tell us."

Bud Donovan crossed to his wife's chair and put his arm protectively around her shoulders. He reminded Vince of a bantam game cock—on the defensive and with several features missing but not ready to concede defeat.

"Someone is trying to frame us," he insisted angrily.

Johanson flipped his thumb across the corners of the bills.

"I could rig up an excellent case against you two based on circumstantial evidence alone. You came here to blackmail Mannley; he refused to take the bait so Donovan here, an expert with a knife, let him have it then robbed him. You could have murdered him just before two o'clock and returned to your room for your chat with Palmer while Mannley was dead."

It sounded convincing but Vince knew that Johanson didn't believe it any more than he did. Mannley himself had said, "We can eliminate the Donovans."

"We didn't take it," Iris' eyes were growing dull and hopeless. "I can't imagine how it got into my knitting bag."

"I can! I know!"

They all stared. Hugh Mannley was peering in at the half-open window.

Johanson actually looked shocked. "Have you been there all the time?"

"Yes, all the time. I heard everything you said."

Everything!!! Then he had heard of Simeon's death yet he showed no anguish or surprise. Was it possible that Sophie had told him after all?

Hugh perched on the sill like some wary bird. "The French lady put the money in there last night," he announced triumphantly.

"How did you know?" Johanson demanded sternly.

"I saw her just before you turned your flashlight on me. I was peering through the window and she was just the other side of the glass with the moonlight shining in her. When Vince came over to her she took the package from the front of her dress and put it in the knitting bag."

Johanson eyed him as though he were on a witness stand and were undergoing cross examination. "Would you swear to that?"

"Yes, I swear it, I swear it!" Hugh giggled with excitement.

The investigator turned to the Donovans, a rueful smile pulling at the corners of his mouth. "That will be all for now then."

Iris didn't forgive easily. "So we're no longer considered murderers!"

"If I were positive you were murderers, you'd be under arrest," he replied. "I merely said I could rig a convincing case, and I still can."

And don't you forget it for one moment, his eyes warned them.

It took more persuasion to get rid of Hugh and it was only minutes after his departure that Sonia Deveraux entered the room in answer to the investigator's summons. She wore a jade green suit trimmed with kolinsky and silver bells dangled at her small well-shaped ears; their faint musical tinkle and the attar of cyclamen followed her into the room.

When she sat down Johanson walked over to her and held out the packet of money.

"You've seen this before, Madam Deveraux?"

She leaned forward slightly. "Non, never."

"Hugh saw you place it in Mrs. Donovan's knitting bag last night."

"You would take the seemingly minor one's word against Sonia's?"

"In this case, yes," Johanson's expression was adamant.

She gave a little shrug of defeat. "Very well, I tell you what happens: I need take the money ten days ago; I try to grieve eek back but the proper opportunity deed not present itself. Afterwards I am afraid I will be accuse of Seemon's murder eef ees found on me, so I hide eet."

"And why did you take it in the first place?"

"I do not see why I should tell you that," she pouted prettily.

Johanson sat on the billiard table swinging one leather-puetteed leg over the corner impatiently. "Perhaps it would be safer to tell me than to leave it to my imagination—Sonia Deveraux von Proskil!"

"Von Proskil! Why do you call me that?"

"Because it is your name. It seems the state department has quite a file on you, Madam." Johanson's tone was cold, determined emotionless.

Sonia's eyes narrowed. "And just what did you find out?"

"That your husband was a wealthy Polish armament manufacturer. That the Nazis while accepting him as a collaborator likewise discovered

WAR GAVE GRAY WHALES CHANCE FOR SURVIVAL

La Jolla, Calif. April 27 (P)—From the front porch of his home, Dr. Carl L. Hubbs has been watching a rare and entertaining spectacle—a migration of whales.

In a single day Dr. Hubbs and his associates at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography have counted as many as 32 of these 40-ton leviathans heading southward.

Within rifle range pass honey-mooning whales, pregnant whales, solicitous bull whales, jilted whales, and adolescent whales.

They are Pacific Gray whales, heading down the coast to the blue-green lagoons of Lower California, where their young are born during late winter and early spring.

Their appearance in increasing numbers this year indicates they have won a battle against extinction.

Almost Wiped Out
Dr. Hubbs, a specialist in fish research, says there probably were that your ancestors were not entirely Aryan and in their desperation at the turn of the war sneaked you into the United States as a spy, using your husband and child as hostages. That you were of almost no assistance to them and they abandoned you and ceased communicating with you."

Sonia's interlaced fingers were white at the knuckles.

"Then you know why I took the money from Seemon's safe..."

"I'm afraid not. Surely your alliance with Mannley was a profitable one. A man of his wealth must have gratified every whim of yours."

"Ha, how little you know! Seemon was a miserable peeg! He liked to see me dressed expensively but he never gave me so much as a centime. When I told him the truth about why I was in America he laughed at me, and when the war was over and I asked him to help me, he taunted me with the reminder that I was a spy and would deserve the gallows under international law! And you ask me why I steal!"

Her voice broke; tears began to course down the damaskine cheeks. "I weel tell you. Eet ees because I haf a child, a little girl, Sari, the one theeng that made my life with Hugo von Proskil bearable. And now I do not know whether she ees alive or dead. Eeen your newspapers I see the pictures of enocent men and women and cheldren being slaughtered. I see the crematories at Lublin, the gas chambers. I see the piles of children's shoes and I do not know but what my little Sari's shoes are among them!!!"

several hundred thousand gray whales on this side of the Pacific in the 1870's, when as many as 70,000 passed offshore here in a single season.

Then the big-time whalers moved in. Relentless killing continued until the middle 1930's when an international agreement was made to protect the species. But on the other side of the Pacific the Japanese, who did not subscribe to the agreement, continued hunting them. Dr. Hubbs said, and the gray whales all but disappeared.

The war gave the whales a big break. Naval activity in the western Pacific apparently frightened a few of the surviving cetaceans to the American side. Then when the Japanese finally were chased off the seas the gray whale had an unlimited opportunity to thrive.

Numbers Increasing
Last year, from his home atop a 300-foot cliff overlooking the Pacific, Dr. Hubbs and co-workers counted more than 200 gray whales in the southward migration. This year, with the season only starting, they had tallied 100 and expected to see about 300 more.

This means, Dr. Hubbs said, that the gray whale population on this side of the Pacific has arisen to about 2,000. In a few years there may be enough to allow commercial operations, Dr. Hubbs added.

The Pacific gray whale is a one-ocean creature. Occasionally he is seen on the Arctic but never in other oceans.

He also is described as the only large whale which can go ashore and return to the water uninjured under his own power. Other big cetaceans are so built, Dr. Hubbs said, that when stranded their internal organs fall out of place and they die. The Pacific gray whale can work himself off a beach without undue injury.

Males Wait Outside
He also is monogamous. Newly paired whales keep snuggled up to each other like honeymooners and seldom get more than a few hundred feet apart, Dr. Hubbs reported.

On reaching Lower California only the cow whales enter the lagoons, there to give birth to their young. The bull whales wait outside the bar—sand bar, that is.

In March the reverse migration begins. New parents show a eagerness not apparent on their more romantic southward movement. This time they stay pretty well offshore, teaching their young the ways of the deep and keeping them beyond the reach of beach hazards.

USING UP COLD TONGUE
Leftover cooked tongue may be used a number of ways: in a combination salad of lettuce, tomatoes and Swiss cheese; cut in thin strips and added to omelette or spaghetti sauce; chopped for a sandwich spread or as a stuffing for mushrooms.

TAYLOR BATTLE BEING DECIDED

Harrisburg, April 27 (P)—Dauphin county's explosive Republican primary battle was in the hands of the voters today with the political leadership of state GOP Chairman M. Harvey Taylor at stake.

A group of independent Harrisburg Republicans, flying a "clean government" banner, have been waging a seven-week-long campaign to defeat Taylor's return to the state Senate for a third term.

Both sides, using newspaper, radio and rally, have subjected the county's 70,000 registered Republicans to one of the stormiest political bombardments in its history.

The 72-year-old Taylor had the strong backing of Gov. James H. Duff in his nomination efforts. The governor last week even took the unprecedented action of addressing a GOP rally in Taylor's behalf.

Meanwhile, spokesmen from headquarters of both groups expressed confidence of victory at the polls today. Each side predicted a winning margin of at least 5,000 votes.

Taylor closed his campaign last night by telling voters in a radio speech he was leaving his "political future and the welfare of the Republican party" in their hands.

A DEAL IN BLOODHOUNDS
London, April 27 (P)—American bloodhounds are to fly the Atlantic to be mated with British hounds. In return, British puppies will be flown to the U. S. and sold as pets for $420 to $640 each, or as skilled trackers for the use of U. S. police and prison authorities in man-hunts. The hope is to save the breed from extinction. Famous as trackers for 1,000 years, bloodhounds are now dying out in England because of their high cost and feeding difficulties. An adult hound eats three to four pounds of meat a day. An English breeder has made an exchange agreement with a Chicago kennel.

High temperatures should not be used when cooking meat since it toughens it. High temperatures are also one cause of excessive shrinking of meats during cooking.

RETAIL GROUPS SHOW HOW TO REDUCE COSTS

New York, April 27 (AP)—Most business prophets say the high cost of living will be with us for a long time. Some think more inflation may be on the way.

"Making ends meet" will continue indefinitely as a major problem for millions of Americans.

Shopping experts say low income groups can offset high prices partially if they take care on how, what, when and where they buy. An alert consumer may save up to 20 per cent on purchases by following a few simple rules.

A survey of spokesmen for leading retailing groups, government agencies and business research organizations suggests it is possible for the average family to buy ordinary necessities at lower than the customary price. But, these men warn, you may have to spend its equivalent in time, thought or work.

Compare Competing Products
Carefully compare values of competing products and competing stores. Some stores feature one brand of products at prices much lower than their competitors. Many stores which are high-priced on most things may feature some at cost or less, just to lure new trade. You will have to seek out the facts for yourself, remembering that a store's reputation for backing its claims — and for making good on items that prove unsatisfactory — also is important.

Study Specifications and Standards. Sometimes high-priced clothes are made to look good, but wear poorly. Plan purchases in advance so that you can act when special sales come. For example, prices of clothing at end-of-season clearances may be as much as 50 per cent lower.

Buy in quantity the goods you use often. Large sizes of most foodstuffs are often cheaper per ounce of contents than small sizes.

Do More Yourself. In many cases you may be paying for services you can perform yourself. For instance, unpainted furniture which you can finish at home usually is much cheaper than the same article already painted.

Make things for yourself. Often clothes, baked goods and other foods that need processing can be made at home at much less than their "processed" prices at the store.

The National Better Business Bureau warns price-conscious shoppers to beware of rackets, however. It says that shoddy merchandise bought for a small amount may prove more costly than quality goods for which you pay more. It urges you to inspect:

"Bait advertising," where some things are advertised at prices the advertiser never intends to follow. The idea is to lure the customer into the store and sell him something inferior at a higher price.

Other Pitfalls
"Wholesale houses" with retail showrooms. The Better Business Bureau says "it is impracticable to maintain a policy of selling retail at wholesale prices."

Fake "Selling Out" or "Going Out of Business" sales.

"Money Back Guarantee." A guarantee, the bureau says, is only as good as the person who gives it and the promises of a swindler are worthless.

Smuggled goods. Peddlers often give this description to all kinds of trashy stuff which seems cheap but really is greatly over-priced.

RUSSIA MOVES TO GAIN HOLD IN PALESTINE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The Palestine crisis has taken on fresh international importance as the result of Russia's sensational about-face in joining the United Nations Trusteeship Council after boycotting the body for 13 months.

The Muscovite action apparently is an effort to further a double ambition: (1) to gain a foothold in the militarily strategic and oil-rich Middle East, and (2) to prevent extension of American power in that vital area.

The development has a somewhat complicated background, but on thumbnail it is this: The U. N. political committee, comprising the entire membership of the peace organization, has for some time been considering an American plan for trusteeship over Palestine. Russia has opposed any trusteeship, claiming that the U. S. A. is maneuvering for military bases and petroleum in the Middle East.

New Importance
Well now, any trusteeship would have to be handled by the trusteeship council. The Soviet Union belongs to the council but has been maintaining a boycott until now, when the council has suddenly assumed unusual importance. Hence Moscow's cool move at long last in naming a representative to that body and thus getting set for action.

It is a tragedy that the sanguinary Jewish-Arab struggle over the Holy Land should be complicated by rivalry between Russia and the major western allies for domination of the Middle East. These two elements so dovetail as to constitute a grave menace to global peace.

However, we at least have the satisfaction of seeing the present phase of the big power competition confined largely to the United Nations. The hope naturally must be that it can be kept there.

The most important issue revolves about the question of sending an international force to Palestine to maintain peace. The Russians would

Uses Greyhounds To Finish Wolves

Tulsa, Okla., April 27 (AP)—J. D. Bradshaw credits his seven greyhounds with the success of his northeastern Oklahoma "wolf extermination" service. "My hounds," he says, "can snap the life right out of the biggest wolf that roams."

Bradshaw doesn't charge for his service. Neither does he collect the $2.50 bounty the state pays for each wolf bagged. With him, it's a hobby. He began his hunting two years ago after a pack of wolves invaded his farm, mauling two calves and killing several young turkeys.

Bradshaw hunts the wolves in a pickup truck with a hinged tailboard which can be opened in the truck's cab. The dogs ride in the back. "I just drive around a ranch until I spot a wolf," he says. "Then I let the greyhounds out and they pick up the scent and that's all there is to it." He recently accounted for 20 wolves in less than that many trips.

SIMMERING DEFINED

give their shirts to get a Red army into the Middle East, thereby establishing a military grip which they could exploit as they have their hold on eastern Germany. That would get the Bolshevik boot into the door of one of the world's most important areas.

Opposed To Plan
Washington has made it clear that the United States is firmly opposed to any U. N. plan which would involve the sending of Russian troops to Palestine. However, that's a ticklish position to maintain and observers anticipate that America will do all possible to avoid being maneuvered into a position of taking a formal position on the matter in the United Nations. Whether she will be able to avert a showdown is a matter of speculation, since the Palestine situation is fluid and the future is uncertain.

Meantime the civil war pursues its bloody and destructive course in the Holy Land.

GOP, TITLE BOUT VIE FOR RADIO

Philadelphia, April 27 (AP)—It will be the Republican national convention versus the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott championship title fight the night of June 23.

The Republicans, Walter S. Hallanan, chairman of the convention's arrangements committee said yesterday, will not cancel events that night in order to avoid a broadcast conflict with the heavyweight title match.

In a letter to Joseph Swife, president of the young Republican club of Chicago, Hallanan said "it would be impossible to rearrange our convention program at this late date without encountering serious problems."

REAL ISOLATION

Sydney, Australia, April 27 (AP)—An abandoned hut in western New South Wales carried this unusual notice on its door for some years: "Twenty miles from a neighbor, 40 miles from a post office, 50 miles from a railway, 50 miles from a pub, 10 miles from wood and water, 1,000 miles from a city. COLLEGE HEAD

sentative Gromyko "and during the three days he did not smile."

The contributions made by the Rotary club and the contribution to world order made by the United Nations are very similar, the local college president pointed out. "We have our Rotary clubs because most difficulties and problems come from the fact that we do not know our fellow men. Rotary fills a need by getting people together. The all important thing that Rotary has done has been to get people to sit down together, to eat together, to sing together."

Working Together

"You cannot meet together week after week with your neighbors without getting to know their good qualities. We are born into the world as strangers, mortally afraid and hemmed in."

"The United Nations' primary contribution is that people of all nations gather together, eat together, walk and talk together. It is essentially an effort to help the people of Gettysburg to know the people of Peru and the people of Siam to know the people of Gettysburg. The United Nations is essentially an effort to get the people of the world to sit down together, get to know each other and to help each other solve the problems of the world. The further apart you are the more afraid and suspicious you are."

"And this is the first time in human history that the people of the world have sat down to try to understand each other. The United Nations is facing every era of human life."

Praises Translators

"One of the greatest facilities of the United Nations is the great skill of its translators and the manner in which it has made possible almost instantaneous translations. While I was there the representative of Pakistan spoke in Arabic. All that it was necessary for those present to do, was to attach earphones to their ears to hear the talk translated into their native tongue. The English translator was just about two words behind the Moslem's talk, translating it as the Moslem spoke. Later, I talked to the translator telling him I had once in my innocence studied a little Arabic and that I remembered none of it. 'But I do it for my living' was the way he answered my question concerning how he could be so fluent in translating it. He speaks 11 languages fluently."

"During the discussion on the speaker from Pakistan started off 'Gentlemen of the court and my distinguished colleague from India.' When the speaker for India spoke he started, 'Gentlemen of the court and my distinguished friend and colleague from Pakistan.' Those statements alone evidenced a great development."

Stopped War In India

"During his talk the representative of Pakistan said one thing of tremendous importance. He pointed out 'we are asking for justice, we will not stoop to arms. We seek the wisdom of the world in solving our problem.' Later he told me if there were no United Nations to appeal to India would be drenched in blood in a terrible civil war."

"During my three days there I found not a trace of ill-will, all seemed anxious to make the United Nations successful. But it is not going to be quick, for the problems of the world are too old to be solved quickly."

"There is another step to be taken by the United Nations. In the United States when a court gives a judgment it has the force to support its decision. The United Nations does not as yet have that force, an international police force, but it will have it soon."

"While the United Nations will not be able to do all of the things it is supposed to do, it is a tremendous step forward."

Hampered by Veto

"We hear much of the veto, and the United Nations will be hampered as long as Russia thinks it can stop the world. Yet, it is evident at Lake Success that while the veto may have held up some things, it has not stopped anything."

"Incidentally, no one at Lake Success speaks for himself, all speak for their governments and every man gets definite instructions on what he is to say. While I was there a session was held up for hours until Gromyko received word from his government on a question that needed to be answered."

Rewriting Histories

"While we hear most about the activities of the Security Council, the United Nations in its various departments continuously is doing a tremendous job for the world. One of the interesting things is that department which is rewriting the histories of the world. It is known that most countries in their history books at least were biased in their own favor. Now, through the U.N. an attempt is being made to provide histories that are unbiased and accurate."

"Another United Nations commission is working on the diseases of the world, bringing the wisdom and the wealth of the world to those who need it. An example of how it works was given during the recent epidemic in Egypt. As soon as word reached the United Nations an investigation was begun and word was sent to all the civilized world ordering each nation to send so much serum within so many hours. As a result of that in 30 days the plague was stopped."

Other Activities

"Another department is studying the world to see how better economic conditions can be secured for all. Another department is studying the status of women. As an example of that department's work, a report from Africa shows a section where infant and mother mortality is high. Investigators will go to Africa and when their report is made the world will be mobilized to meet the problem."

"Thus the tremendous work of the United Nations goes forward. Who would not be optimistic? When I hear those who speak of the world as doomed I think of a letter I read recently. Written in 1848 the letter begins, 'Thank God I am in my 80th year of I can see no future for the United States but desolation and ruin.' Yet the past 100 years have shown some cause for hope."

Dr. C. Harold Johnson presided at the Rotary meeting with 58 in attendance. Vice President Mares Sherman introduced the speaker.

Report Egyptian Armored Division Entering Palestine As Arabs Occupy Jericho

OF INVASION OF HOLY LAND IS EXPECTED

Jerusalem, April 27 (P)—A reliable source said troops of an Egyptian armored division crossed Palestine's southern frontier at dawn today.

The report came on the heels of Damascus report that a trans-Jordan Arab legion had occupied the town of Jericho and was moving toward the dead valley of Palestine. The report was discounted here since security forces are on loan to British under both the old and new British-trans-Jordan treaties.

Haifa Under Fire
Reports that Haifa is being shelled from across the bay, were unconfirmed.

An official British army spokesman in Jerusalem said one company of the Arab legion "under British orders" had entered Jericho today. "When their mission is finished," he said, "they will be withdrawn."

A Palestine government spokesman said that "any trans-Jordan troops now in Palestine are under command of the British general officer commanding and their conduct is not in question. We have not heard of any declaration of war and consider any such declaration as extremely unlikely."

Invasion This Week

A Jewish agency spokesman told newsmen Jews had learned that last night the trans-Jordan parliament agreed to King Abdullah's demand to send troops into Palestine and ordered a general mobilization.

Armies of the four Arab nations which encircle Palestine are reported ready to invade the Holy Land before the week ends.

The reports said the forces of trans-Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt will launch the thrust in defiance of the British mandate, not scheduled to end until May 15, and of the United Nations security council, which has ordered a cease-fire in Palestine.

Two Britons Killed

Two Britons were killed in Jerusalem today, as tension increased over the threatened invasion.

Capt. R. B. Leggett, retired British naval officer, who came to Palestine last week to accept a consular appointment when the mandate ends, was shot by Arabs near Barclay's bank in the heart of the city.

A British public works official was shot dead by unidentified assailants this morning near the Jerusalem sports club. A British source said the official, B. O. Denham, had been threatened by Arabs for "fraternizing" with Jews.

A royal artillery officer, near the scene when Leggett was killed, joined in the gun battle with the

Girl's Letters Spur Relief Work Abroad

Worthington, Minn., April 27 (P)—

Tons of relief supplies have been shipped from Worthington to war-shattered Crailsheim, Germany. And about 200 citizens of each town write to each other. It all started when Martha Cashel, 11 years old, began writing to a girl in Finland.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cashel, after sending gifts to their daughter's friend, sponsored extension of the project. Crailsheim was chosen through Combined Relief Agencies Licensed to Operate in Germany (CRALOG) because it was similar in size and makeup to Worthington.

The idea caught on although some veterans opposed it at first. Worthington sponsors of the plan say it has paid off in exchange of ideas and pleasure at doing good work.

assailants. He said Leggett had just emerged from the bank with 4,800 pounds (about $19,200) and was placing the money in an armored police car when an Arab two feet away fired two shots into his head and one into his chest. Some 250 people in the area fled when police and the army opened fire. One Arab was killed and two injured. The assailant escaped.

Campaigns conducted by 619 community chests in 1941 raised nearly $96 million.

Gloria Doll Dawn, 21, a $35-a-week secretary when she married a movie makeup artist, Jack Dawn, 18 months ago, asks a judge for $1,500 a month support money pending trial at Los Angeles of their divorce case. She said she needed $200 a month just for clothes. She was granted $125 a week from the 57-year-old head of M-G-M's makeup department.—(AP Wirephoto)

HOW TO CLEAN ALUMINUM

BOGOTA PARLEY NEARING CLOSE

Bogota, Colombia, April 27 (P)—A charter to protect Western Hemisphere workers' rights headed for final approval Monday as Pan American delegates strove to wind up their 21-nation conference by Friday.

A working committee approved the charter draft on Sunday with a reservation by the United States. The document now goes to the steering committee for final approval before inclusion in the overall Bogota pact.

Delegates, pressing to meet their target date, held committee and working group meetings Sunday. Several projects are nearing completion. The organic pact for an inter-American system, which will be an entity within the framework of the United Nations, has been approved by the second commission of the conference.

An Argentine plan for establishing an inter-American bank was shelved; the proposal was referred to the social and economic council of the Pan-American union for further study.

The social guarantee charter contains a declaration of fundamental principles and minimum guarantees for men and women workers, "without prejudice to the laws of the various states which may amplify these rights or recognize them in a more favorable way."

The charter does not bind any nation. It merely has the force of a declaration.

Scranton, Pa., April 27 (P)—Jacob Greens, Scranton beer salesman convicted of conspiracy against the government, has been ordered by a federal bankruptcy referee to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt.

Albert H. Ashton, federal bankruptcy referee, said Greens "gave evasive answers under the guise of loss of memory" during proceedings to set aside the sale of the Williamsport Wire Rope company to the Bethlehem Steel company.

PASTOR'S WIFE PINCH HITTER FOR HUSBAND

Memphis, Tenn., April 27 (AP)—A husband and wife team attends to the spiritual needs of the First Congregational Christian church here.

When frequent speaking engagements take the pastor, Dr. Marshall P. Wingfield, out of town, his assistant pastor takes over. That's Mrs. Wingfield, an ordained minister.

She takes over the pulpit and performs weddings. And when the pastor is in town, she directs children's and youth activities and helps with the church choir.

The Wingfields work as a team elsewhere, too. Sharing a love for literature, they both are in demand as book reviewers and lecturers. And both take an active part in the city's civic life.

Both Are Writers

Both are prolific writers. He is author of several books and she contributes frequently to church publications.

Mrs. Wingfield's training fitted her well for the role of an assistant pastor. She received her bachelor's degree in religion and education and majored in music and home economics.

The latter training, plus a "love for cooking," has proved valuable in her role as minister's wife. This, she says, means frequent entertaining—without a servant.

Her scheme for serving a course dinner for 30 guests, without a maid, recently attracted wide attention.

When the guests arrived, each found that his placecard carried instructions as to what his chores would be.

The master of the house was no exception. Wingfield's job was to prepare the entree—baked ham. It was country cured ham, incidentally, from the Franklin county, Virginia, plantation which he owns and which has been in the Wingfield family since it was given by the King of England as a land grant.

In one respect, Mrs. Wingfield takes advantage of being the feminine member of the ministerial team. That's in the matter of weddings.

As is the custom with most ministers, when Dr. Wingfield officiates at a wedding, his wife gets the fee. But when Mrs. Wingfield performs a marriage ceremony, she keeps the money herself.

Must Have Hair To Be A Soldier

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Complete baldness, bad breath and unusual fattiness were among little-known causes of disqualification for U. S. military service during the war.

Dr. Louis Carp, describing his experiences at New York Grand Central Palace induction station, says, men with such defects were turned down, because of the possibility of upsetting morale or exposing the men to ridicule.

"Unshapely, very obese men with unusual fat distribution," he writes in the magazine Military Surgeon, "were not only bad potential risks, but they might come in for some chronic ribbing. . . . Total (baldness) was not only unsightly but it could easily make a man the butt of a company."

Tattooed men were okay, and Carp said the percentage of tattooed selectees "was considerably higher than is generally believed."

Carp tells of one chap who had a black cat and the Number 13 tattooed on his arm. "It had always been lucky for him," related the doc.

"His most recent lucky episode occurred on Friday, April 13, 1945, when he was among a group of 13 doughfoots who escaped from a German prison camp."

London, April 27 (AP)—Britain is to have a national theater "worthy of Shakespeare" along the south bank of the Thames about one mile from the site of Shakespeare's "Old Globe." Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps says he will introduce legislation before 1950 providing for a grant of not more than $4,000,000 for construction of the theatre.

BETTER LABELS ARE URGED TO ASSIST BUYERS

New York, April 27 (AP)—Shopping experts say that if you are trying to beat the high cost of living you should take time to compare good and bad points in the things you buy.

It is a mistake, these experts say, to conclude that simply because an article is high-priced it is better for your purposes than one less costly. Frequently, they say, high-priced goods are made for style and not wear and may have a shorter life than a sturdier article in the lower-price range.

Numerous books have been written to tell how to appraise quality in clothing, furniture and other consumer articles. These books are available in many public libraries. In addition, newspapers often publish helpful material of this kind.

Even Experts Fooled
Some authorities say, however, that it may be hard for consumers to keep up with the many new materials and products coming onto the market. Even experts such as department store buyers have been fooled by some synthetic textiles, for example.

The solution, says the National Consumer-Retailer Council, Inc., is in more "informative labeling." This council, an organization supported by leading consumer and merchandising groups, urges manufacturers to use labels giving complete information on the quality and performance of their product. It says labels should answer five questions:

What the product is made of; how it is made; what it will do; how to care for it; and how to use it.

Should Ask Questions
The council recommends that you carefully read labels of competitive products before you buy. Retail experts say that where "informative labels" are lacking, you should ask the five questions above of sales clerks. Reputable stores, they say, are eager to give this information.

Rogers Fund Aids Many Handicapped

Norman, Okla., April 27 (AP)—Since 1939, when a $150,000 scholarship fund was established from a bequest by the late Will Rogers, 156 physically handicapped students at the University of Oklahoma have received financial assistance. Successful scholarship applicants—including the blind, crippled and deaf; those suffering from heart ailments and arrested tuberculosis—receive monthly sums ranging from $30 to $50. The amount is determined by the difference between the student's needs and resources.

Grants to students may be made as advances, loans or gifts. Most of them are approved under the third classification. The maximum amount given thus far under a regular scholarship was $1,545 during a four-year period. The lowest was $38.

The funds provide an annual income of about $6,400. Only the interest is expendable. The State Vocational Rehabilitation Division matches the Will Rogers scholarships, and usually supplies such aids as crutches, wheel chairs and glasses.

The program also is in operation in Texas and California, where the state universities aid handicapped students through Will Rogers funds.

Austria Exporting Music And Drama

Vienna, April 27 (AP)—Music and drama are high on the list of Austrian exports to the West this year. Trips to Western European nations and the United States are planned for the Vienna Burgtheater and the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. In addition, "Danton's Death," the opera composed by young Gottfried von Einem, will be performed in five foreign countries.

"Danton's Death" had its world premier at last year's Salzburg music festival. It will be staged in Stuttgart and Hamburg, Germany, and in Brussels, Paris, Milan, Venice and New York. The Hungarian conductor, Ferenc Fricssay, has been engaged to conduct the opera at the Metropolitan in New York.

COURAGE ON THE PHONE
Rogers, Ark., April 27 (AP)—When a tornado approached this community April 19, 1947, Mrs. Marguerite Miller, telephone operator, courageously remained at her post. For her devotion to duty, Mrs. Miller recently was named "First Lady of the Year" in Rogers by the local chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

TIPS GIVEN ON GAS SAVING TO AVOID FAMINE

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Save one pint of gasoline every day and you'll help keep a shortage away.

The American Automobile Association (AAA) gives that tip to the nation's 30,000,000 owners of passenger autos. Association officials say car drivers stand to profit by voluntary saving of gasoline for two reasons. It would help:

1. Prevent shortages of gasoline next summer or fall.
2. Avert a possible scarcity of heating oil next winter.

Some petroleum authorities have said this winter's cutback in gasoline production in order to boost the heating fuel output may lead to gasoline shortages next summer.

Harvest Menaced
Government oil experts say prospective gasoline shortages may hinder harvests in the mid-west and thus curtail farm production. AAA officials fear that if motorists don't voluntarily conserve gasoline farm shortages may result in demands for some form of rationing.

If every one of the 30,000,000 passenger car owners saved a pint of gasoline a day a total of 1,365,000-000 gallons would be saved in 1948. A saving of that size, AAA officials say, would go a long way in easing if not averting a shortage.

How can you save gasoline? One way is to drive slower.

The AAA officials point out that hundreds of millions of gallons of gasoline are wasted every year by car drivers who travel at unnecessarily high speeds. This wastage is indicated by tests of gasoline consumption at various speeds.

Speed Eats Gas
The tests show that a car which gets 18.7 miles to the gallon at 30 miles an hour gets only 15.8 miles to the gallon at 40 miles an hour, 13.3 miles at 50 miles an hour, 11.2 miles at 60 miles an hour and 8.2 miles at 80 miles an hour.

The consumption of gasoline per automobile, as well as the total number of autos in use, has increased considerably since 1930. In that year 23,000,000 passenger cars consumed an average of 519 gallons of gas per car.

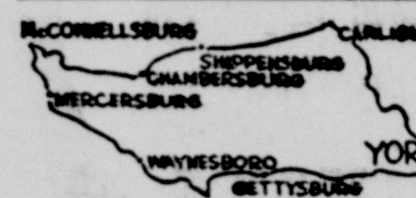

In 1941, some 29,500,000 passenger cars consumed an average of 650 gallons per car. In wartime 1943, when gasoline was rationed, the consumption of 26 million passenger autos dropped to 425 gallons per car. The gas consumption of 28,250,000 cars in 1946 was 700 gallons per car. Last year close to 30,000,000 passenger cars used an estimated 800 gallons per car.

This year's consumption is figured to go higher unless there is widespread saving of gasoline by pleasure car drivers.

NEW MOSCOW SUBWAY

Moscow, April 27 (AP)—In Moscow it has been announced that the first ten kilometers of the "ring" subway for the Soviet capital has been completed. This "ring" is scheduled to go into operation in part next year and in toto by 1950. It will run around the center of the city and connect all the capital's railway stations of which there are 12.

In 1947, more than 20,000 owls were killed by farmers and hunters.

College Vacation Almost A Career

Guam, April 27 (AP)—What's the best way to spend a college vacation? Two bearded and browned students from the University of California at Los Angeles will tell you it's sailing the Pacific—if you don't care how long your vacation lasts.

Brothers Al and Joe Linesch joined a shark fishing expedition to Tahiti during last summer vacation from UCLA. They returned to Hawaii in a small Tahiti ketch, too late to make the fall term at school. So they signed on the missionary schooner Morning Star VI for the Marshalls and Carolines.

Now they have signed a year's contract with a trading company in the Pacific islands. Asked if they really intend to return to UCLA, they said "Yes, when our summer vacation is over."

London, April 27 (AP)—"Walkie-Talkie" radios are being tested as a means of quick contact between rescue workers in mine disasters. The tests show it is possible to transmit through the earth.

Wily Fox Has His Trail Plowed Under

St. Joe, Ark., April 27 (AP)—The atomic age hasn't dimmed the cunning of ol' Br'er Fox. In north Arkansas recently, a fox used this method to outwit his old foe, hounds.

Tiring of having dogs yapping at him for two hours, the fox came upon a field in which a farmer was plowing mile-long furrows. The fox ran down an open furrow and on the next round, the plow neatly covered Br'er Fox's trail.

This fox is believed to have been the same one which sprung a slick trick several months ago on a pack of hounds. He escaped by running through a herd of cows with young calves. The lone fox made it okay, but when the dog pack tried it, they brought down the wrath of mama cows, who charged the hounds and broke up hunt then and there.

MANY WAYS TO CONSERVE FOOD; SPARE HEALTH

(By The Associated Press)
The average consumer can use many weapons to stave off rising food costs, say federal food authorities. But at the same time they warn that careless trimming of purchases may cut out foods needed for health.

Department of Agriculture officials say that before trying to revise your food budgets you should learn what types of food are needed every day. To get adequate vitamins, minerals, proteins, starches and fats, they say you need a diet balanced with leafy, green and yellow vegetables; citrus fruit or tomatoes; potatoes; fruits; milk, cheese and eggs; flours, cereals, meal; fats and oils; dry beans, peas and nuts; sugar; meat, poultry and fish.

Spokesmen for the agriculture department and for food chains and consumer groups agree that you can save sizable sums if you consider how foods will be used before you buy them.

They cite the following as the most important examples:

Cheaper cuts of meat (commercial and utility grades B and C) are as nourishing as costlier grades. If used in stews or other dishes where they will be cooked for a long period they may be just as tasty.

Evaporated or dried milk is cheaper than fluid milk and can be used at least part of the time. Dried skim milk can replace whole milk in cooking or baking. It costs about seven cents a quart.

Try substitutes for meat. You get good proteins from dry beans, dry peas, lentils, cheese and peanut butter. "Variety meats" like beef, pork or lamb liver, kidneys, brains and heart often are low-priced but rich in vitamins.

Choose brown whole-grain or enriched bread, flour, cereals, meal for their extra vitamins and iron. Bread made with milk or milk served with cereal make a high-quality protein combination.

Good Vegetables

Leafy, green and yellow vegetables give good values in minerals and vitamins. Choose those in season, when they are usually lowest-priced. Learn to use the leafy tops of young beets and turnips. These, like kale, spinach, mustard and collards, are cheap sources of Vitamin A. They contain other vitamins and iron too.

Among other money-saving hints for food buying, an official of one of the country's major food chains suggests:

1. Carefully compare prices at different stores. You may find prices at one place lower on most things but higher on some others.

2. Stock up during sales. Some stores feature periodic sales of canned or packaged foods and other household needs. You may save considerably if you buy enough then to last six months or a year.

3. Try always to buy fresh foods in season. One of the quickest ways to run up food costs is to buy fresh fruits and vegetables when they are scarce. On the other hand, prices are lowest when they are plentiful.

4. Buy staples in the lowest-priced quantity. For instance, if you buy two cans of goods priced at 2 for 21c you pay five per cent less than if you buy only one at 11c.

United States museums increased from 600 in 1910 to 2,500 in 1939.

Littlestown

Littlestown.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Wildasin, East King street, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Unger and son, Larry, Union township, spent the week-end at Royersford with their former pastor, the Rev. and Mrs. H. Hartman. They report that Dr. Hartman is in fairly good health and that Dr. and Mrs. Hartman are planning to visit Littlestown in the near future. Dr. Hartman was pastor of Christ Reformed church, near Littlestown, from December 1, 1926, to May 1, 1940. He is the only living former pastor of Christ church. Since his retirement the Hartmans have been residing at Royersford.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fasold, of Selinsgrove announce the birth of a son on April 24, in the Community hospital, Sunbury. Mrs. Fasold was the former Kathryn K. Kroh, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Kroh, East King street, and the late C. Irving Kroh. Mrs. Kroh is spending some time at the Fasold home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Shriver, East King street, were week-end visitors with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shriver, Lancaster.

Monday and today have been moving days for the Rev. and Mrs. Frank E. Reynolds, when assisted by a number of the men of the congregation, they moved their furniture from the house on East King street to the recently built parsonage on Maple avenue.

The Mite society of St. Paul's Lutheran church previously announced to meet tonight, will meet instead next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Stambaugh, North Queen street.

In order that no one will be without transportation, the Littlestown Men's chorus is asked to meet Thursday night at 9 o'clock at the Redeemer's Reformed church. Transportation will be provided from there to Christ Reformed church, where they will have the final rehearsal for their first public appearance which will be at the Third District rally, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in Christ church. The leaders of the chorus request the attendance of all members for this important rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hare, daughters Pauline and Louise, Litzitz, visited Mr. Hare's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hare, Lumber street, on Sunday.

Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randall, Lumber street, included their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Eisenhart, and son, Donald, of York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ramsay Jones, Roland Park, Baltimore, spent the week-end with Mr. Jones' mother, Mrs. W. R. Jones and family, East King street.

TWO KILLED IN BORDER BATTLE

Rome, April 27 (AP)—A brief but bloody border skirmish highlighted for Italians today the expected coming struggle for Trieste.

An Italian soldier and a Yugoslav officer are dead, three other Italian soldiers—one reported dying—are in a hospital as a result of a shooting scrape between Italian and Yugoslav border patrols near a village north-west of the free territory, in Venezia Giulia last night.

Italian officials said the Yugoslavs had moved a border marker near the village and stood on ground which the commander thought still was Italian.

Yugoslavs rattled out from a Yugoslav machinegun, the Italians said. They returned the fire. A Yugoslav officer and an Italian soldier fell dead. Three other Italian soldiers were hit.

The Italians said they withdrew when 70 Yugoslav soldiers came charging down a hill on the 18-man Italian patrol.

The western powers have proposed that the free territory of Trieste be returned to Italy. Russia turned the idea down. The United Nations Security Council has been unable to agree on a governor for the territory and British-American troops occupy one sector and Yugoslav troops the other.

HOME LABOR IS CITED AS WAY TO CUT COSTS

New York, April 27 (AP)—You may be able to beat down the high cost of living with your own hands.

Since labor costs are a major factor in most products bought at the store, home economists say you can save large sums by buying the "raw materials" and doing the work yourself. This includes home sewing, home baking and home preparation of other foods, and other home occupations such as the painting of furniture which has been bought in an unfinished state.

The National Needlecraft Bureau, Inc., an organization formed to promote home sewing, says that in the medium price range, a dress, suit, coat or blouse can be made at home for 1/3 to 1/2 the cost of a ready-to-wear garment of similar style and fabric.

Can Be Done At Home

"In higher priced fashions where the store service, better workmanship and exclusivity of style add to the price, the savings by sewing are greater," this bureau says.

"The same fine workmanship and individuality of style can be duplicated at home by the expert sewer without additional expense. As many excellent designers are creating fashions for the patternmakers there is no loss of style.

A wool gabardine suit, selling ready-made at $59.95, can be made at home for $22, the bureau estimates.

A cotton dress, costing $9.98 in the store, can be made at home for $4.60, it says, and an all-wool spring coat, store-priced at $55, can be produced for $26.70.

"It should be remembered, too, that many fabrics used in ready-made clothes are of such inferior quality that the garments are worthless after the first cleaning or washing," the bureau says.

"Such fabrics are not sold by the yard, so that the sewer invariably puts better fabric into the clothes she makes.

"Fabric sales offer the home sewer an opportunity for additional savings. The woman who plans her wardrobe for several seasons ahead, keeping in mind colors and what clothes she will need, is better able to take advantage of fabric sales than the woman who plans one dress or suit at a time.

Conversion Possible

"Women who sew are also in a position to save money on clothes by making over dresses that are out of style.

"Another source of saving is in home decorating items such as draperies, curtains and slipcovers. These articles, too, can be made for 1/2 to 1/3 the price of the store-bought items."

The Twentieth Century Fund, an independent foundation which studies economic problems, estimates that pastries, cakes and other baked goods often may be made at home for as little as 1/2 the cost of the purchased article. It also is estimated that you can save between 25 and 50 per cent by making your own biscuits instead of buying them.

Department stores often advertise unpainted furniture at prices one-third or more below the finished product. Actually, according to past publications of the Department of Agriculture, the list of services which the consumer can perform for himself is amazingly long.

They include: Home painting and decorating, woodworking, cleaning and dyeing of clothes, hair-cutting

Change Artist Works Old Racket

Memphis, Tenn., April 27 (AP)—A drugstore cashier here learned the hard way that the hand is quicker than the eye. The lesson cost the store $18.97.

A young man walked up to the cashier and asked her to swap him a $20 bill for 20 ones.

Miss Cagley gave him the bill and watched him place it in an envelope while she was counting the stack of $1 bills he gave her in exchange, counting only 19 instead of 20, she told him he was $1 short.

He fumbled through his pockets and hair-dressing, plumbing repairs.

The department says "how to do it" information on all these money-saving points is available in most public libraries.

Spokesmen for the "do it yourself and save" school emphasize, however, that in most cases amateurs will not do as polished a job as professionals and that effort and time must be expended to achieve a saving in money.

FEW DISLOYAL U.S. EMPLOYEES BEING FOUND

By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.
Washington, April 27 (AP)—The government's drive to find disloyal Federal employees isn't finding many.

More than 1,000,000 of the 1,800,000 government workers have been checked by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Less than 1,000 have needed further investigation (the rate is about 77 investigations out of every 100,000 checked.)

And many of those who get a complete investigation are found loyal. Others quit their jobs before the investigation is finished.

The FBI decides whether to dig deeper into a worker's loyalty after checking his finger prints and identity charts against its huge "subversive file." (subversive is defined as "having a tendency to overthrow, upset or destroy.")

Nothing New

If a link is found between an employee and the subversive file an investigation starts.

Checking on the loyalty of Federal employees is nothing new. We've been doing it off and on ever since 1883, the date of the civil service act. We've done a lot of it since 1939.

Why? Because—

1. Working for the government is not a right, but a privilege. So the United States can set up standards of employment like other employers. 2. The Hatch Act (1939) won't let Uncle Sam pay any one who advocates, or belongs to an organization advocating, the overthrow of the government.

Old KKK Link Enough

In a routine check of an employee's finger prints and identity chart, the FBI discovers he once was a member of the Ku Klux Klan. It doesn't matter whether he's still a member of the KKK. If he ever was he's marked for a full-scale investigation.

Why? Because the KKK is an outfit which the attorney-general says comes under one of the following headings:

1. Is "totalitarian, Fascist, Communist or subversive."

2. Favors denying persons "their rights under the constitution," by "acts of force or violence."

3. Seeks to "alter the form of government of the U. S. by unconstitutional means."

Suspect Gets Hearing

These conditions are listed in the President's executive order which started the present loyalty check. KKK comes under heading No. 2.

After fully investigating the former KKK member (only about 200 investigations have been finished so far) the FBI sends its full report to the head of his agency.

The agency's loyalty board (it consists of officials of the agency) gives him a hearing and decides: 1. He's eligible for further employment, or 2. He's ineligible, in which case he's fired.

There are two appeals, if he's found ineligible—to the head of his agency and to the President's loyalty review board. The board is made up of private citizens. If both uphold the decision he's out of luck. All he can do is to go to court. And there's plenty of precedent in favor of the court's upholding the firing.

NO CHRISTMAS EFFECT

Revived fashion interest in dazzling sequined gowns prompts one eminent jewelry designer to caution against creating a Christmas tree effect by wearing jeweled dress clips at the same time. He recommends earrings, bracelets or a necklace instead.
